

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Tuesday 1st November 2022

By Revd Kit Gunasekera

Entertaining Angels

Following on from Val's thought about angels' last week, I am also reminded of another verse from the bible which says:

Do not forget to show hospitality to strangers, for by so doing some people have shown hospitality to angels without knowing it. - Hebrews 13:2

This seems very topical at the moment.

Whatever our political views, the biblical view, is to show kindness and give help to those in need, including foreigners, as far as we are able to.

If anyone has material possessions and sees a brother or sister in need but has no pity on them, how can the love of God be in that person? - 1 John 3:17

If we feel unable to do so, then we ought to decline, with regret, and with tears in our eyes, rather than casting dispersions on the character and motivation of those who seek help and reducing their humanity by the foolish use of language. Our 'dream' and 'obsession' in life, ought to be to create a world where there is no poverty. That's not being political, its just being human.