

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY – Tuesday 30th May 2023

By Rev John Marshall

Robin

As we parked at a coffee shop on the A303, a bold and beautiful robin sat on a rubbish bin and stared at us.

I had just read of the legend of how the robin got its red breast. On Good Friday a little brown bird scratched its breast on the crown of thorns and was also sprinkled with the blood of Christ, so it was stained red, a reminder of the love and blood of Jesus.

In the same way the donkey was marked with a cross.

Let us give thanks for the love and life , death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.
