

Thought for the day – Saturday 30th March 2024

By Revd Kit Gunasekera

Today, we are with the disciples, in their shattering loss and great sadness.
It must have felt so empty for them.
Such a huge loss.
To experience the death of such beauty, innocence, kindness, compassion.
The ending of hope,
To injustice, jealousy, evil.
Today is a day to contemplate,
Can this be it?
That the last question Jesus asked of God, when He was on the cross, will be met with an eternal silence?
And is that it for us too?

BIBLE VERSES:

⁴⁶ About three in the afternoon Jesus cried out in a loud voice, “Eli, Eli, lema sabachthani?” (which means “My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?”)
- Matthew 27:46
