

Thought for the day – Tuesday 9th August 2022

By Revd John Marshall

Aled Jones Everyday Blessings Andrew Chinn

I have enjoyed glancing into Aled's book, he has a wonderful selection of quotes.

“May the God of the sun, gently rising

Bring the hope of a day just begun.

May the God of the oceans all around us

Bring you the peace of the Holy One.

May the God of the desert, heart of our land

Bring the stillness and silence of the wise.

May the God of the rivers, flowing freely

Bring new hope, soothing calm, and new life.

May the God of the skies above us

Lift your heart and bring you joy.

May the God of the rains from the heavens

Nurture you and soothe your soul.

May the God of the sun, gently setting

Bring you peace and rest your weary heart.

May the God of the stars of our Southern Cross

Shine down on you wherever you are

Shine down on you wherever you are.

Hodder and Stoughton

I like these blessings, from Australia. How would you write them?
