Putting yourself in the way of adventure – Jill Howard-Gunasekera

Sometimes the facebook algorithm reminds you of a picture you took a long time ago. This one came up recently (see left or below)

Georgey sometimes used to leap up into my bike basket for an afternoon dose. It was obviously just the right size and height for him. I'm sure if I'd got on the bike and started to peddle he'd quickly jump out. But what I like about Georgey, and Clara, is that what's ours is theirs. They have no problem appropriating things! Even if it might lead them into an adventure they hadn't anticipated.

Sometimes I wonder do we say, what's Christ's is ours? What adventures might await us if we did?

Here's two words Jesus spoke that I'm reminded of, perhaps you can finish the sentences..

'Ask,..... Seek.....'

May you never stop asking and seeking of God!
