

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Wednesday 5th July 2023

By Revd Kit Gunasekera

Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

I was interested in placement of some of our Roses from our garden, in different stages, coming to birth, blooming and dead. It's the natural course of things. No Roses were harmed in the production of this thought! It reminds me that life is about what has been or coming to an end, what is now, and what will be in the future.

I wonder though, for us at this time, which is in the foreground, and which is in the back ground?

Are we focused on the past, future or present?

Do you think there is a right order?

All three are important. Our past informs our present and our future course is set in the present. However life happens now, with this breath that we take, now.

I am reminded of Revelation 1:8 where it says " "I am the Alpha and the Omega," says the Lord God, "who is, and who was, and who is to come..." We also say when we have communion, "Christ has died, Christ is risen, Christ will come again." It is reassuring to know that Christ is with us in our past, present and future.
